

WORLD WINE AWARDS

2009 Henry Fessy Régnié Château des Reysniers AC Régnié - 40 year old vines

Quite a delicate purple colour - not too garish!

The nose was soft and grape juice-like.

The palate was soft, smooth and intensely fruity with strawberry, raspberry and cherry characters firmed up by the gentle lace-like tannin structure and acidity balanced by the fruit.

Very fresh with lovely balance and a clean finish - 89/100 points.

Quentin Sadler's Wine Page 2010

2009 Henry Fessy Fleurie AC Fleurie - 50 year old vines

The colour was a deep, rich translucent purple.

The nose was bursting with soft red fruit with floral notes.

The palate was fleshy, juicy and supple with fresh, lively raspberry, cherry and strawberry backed up by nice acidity, light chalky tannins and a little creaminess.

A really lovely wine - 91/100 points

Quentin Sadler's Wine Page 2010

2009 Henry Fessy Saint Amour AC Saint Amour - 50 year old vines

Ripe cherry, strawberry and plum dominate the nose.

The palate is soft and smooth with some more marked acidity making it very fresh and lively with ripe red fruit and a touch of chalky tannins giving way to a slightly spicy finish.

Silky and attractive wine - 88/100 points.

Quentin Sadler's Wine Page 2010

2009 Henry Fessy Moulin-à-Vent AC Moulin-à-Vent - 50 year old vines

Bright, purpley grape juice colour.

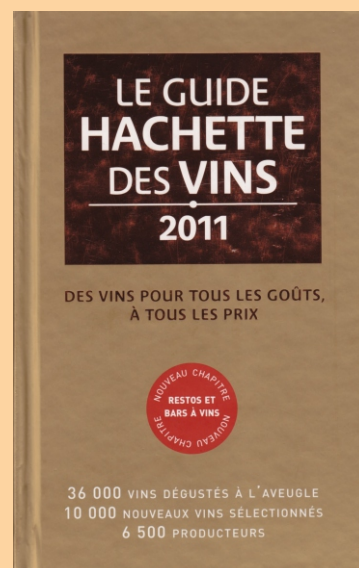

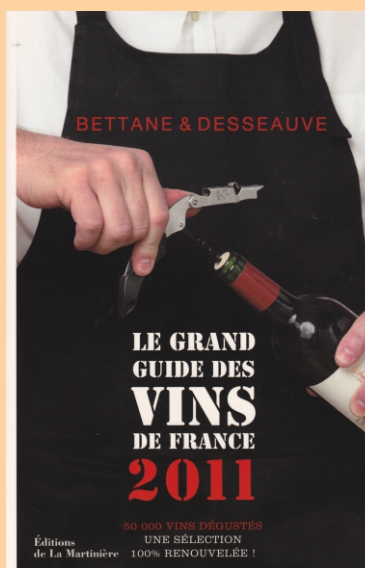

The nose gave flowers, strawberries, cherries and chewy sweets.

The palate was fresh and lively at first with bright red fruit and acidity giving way to a slightly bitter mineral note.

The texture was soft and supple and juicy.

A concentrated wine with a somewhat hard finish - this was the only one that seemed as though it might be better in a year, so again living up to its reputation - 89/100 points.

Quentin Sadler's Wine Page 2010

Wine Spectator
Insider
 Marvin R. Shanken Editor and Publisher

Vol. 6, No. 50 | Dec. 8, 2010

Wine Spectator

SPECTATOR SELECTIONS: Smart Buys

90 Henry Fessy Moulin-à-Vent 2009

A lovely, dark and smoky red, displaying brambly blackberry, ripe plum and crème de cassis fruit flavors.